

30 May - 20 June

The 2015 FIFA U-20 World Cup will be the twentieth edition of the U-20 World Cup since its inception in 1977 as the FIFA World Youth Championship. The competition will take place for the first time in New Zealand,[1] the third time in Oceanian soil after Australia staged the 1981 and 1993 editions. A total of 52 matches will be played in seven host cities.
